

IT cooperatives are a novelty in Argentina. The oldest company is only 13 years old. Currently Argentina stands out for being the country with the highest number of IT cooperatives worldwide.

We are 18 cooperatives with 316 associated members distributed in 15 cities from the province of Jujuy to Rio Negro. We have carried out more than 1900 projects with more than 800 clients.

Some of our featured customers are: Senasa, Lenovo, Credicoop Bank, Unicef, Telefe, Petrobras, National Ministry of Education, Rosario Municipality, Government of Bahia Blanca.

Cooperative training and new technologies

We think of knowledge as a social good and a historical and collective construction.

We boost training and promotion activities related to the cooperative business model and its values.

We promote the use of free software in all areas, understanding that it guarantees technological independence and free access to knowledge, the only guarantors of digital sovereignty.

Following this principles, we have been carrying out knowledge dissemination activities.

Incubator

We helped more than 10 cooperatives on their own creation by offering support during the conception, start-up and business growth, providing the necessary resources for the transformation of ideas and entrepreneurial projects into companies with high development potential and committed to their community

Free minds is a collective construction.

The spirit is to share what we do, know and like: software technology related to learning and collaborative culture. Since its launch in March 2014, it has landed in 30 cities in which more than 300 workshops were held with more than 70 facilitators and 2,500 participants.
